In light of the growing concerns around COVID-19, Alliston Volkswagen is closely monitoring all the developments and we are doing everything in our power to protect our customers and our employees.

We are open for business, but we have added the following precautionary measures recommended by the Canadian Public Health Authorities.

Our dealership has increased sanitation procedures of all public touchpoints. These are disinfected several times per day. We have increased the availability of hand sanitizer and disinfectant wipes at our dealership. Our facilities have ample seating areas to maintain appropriate space distances between customers.

Vehicles:

All loaners and demo vehicles are disinfected after each use. At this time, we are not providing shuttle service.

Service Cleaning Protocols:

Our service team is wearing protective gloves, utilizing steering wheel covers and disinfectant wipes when required.

Contact:

We have implemented a no-touch policy for our employees (e.g. no hand shaking/physical contact with customers and fellow employees. Smiles only for now!

Open Communication:

We have ensured our employees have the information they need to stay healthy and are advised to stay home if they feel unwell.

Customer Visits:

In order to protect fellow visitors and employees, we ask that if you have travelled internationally within the last 14 days or are feeling unwell, please postpone your visit for a later date.
